Description: General Inventory Trimmer is a part of General Inventory Suite (GIS) which is the best price inventory management software for medium and large sized companies. GIS is a comprehensive inventory management software, which integrates the entire process of inventory planning, tracking, and processing to get the best price to the customers. GIS is actually a part of Inventory Suite consists of four separate modules: Planning and reporting, Inventory control, Billing, and Warehouse operations. Planning and reporting component of GIS enables the manager to efficiently and effectively plan and forecast product requirements, and generate detailed reports for the organization. GIS projects are stored in a single table, and allow the user to print and export different reports. With the help of GIS, the user can also order in and out and sell/resale products to the customers. The process of inventory control module in GIS is followed by a six-step process. In the first step, product related data are entered in the transaction. Based on the product type, different cost centers are allocated. In the second step, the user gets information regarding the product availability and stocked quantity. The users can then take a call as to whether they want to schedule an employee to meet with the customers. The billing component is also a part of the GIS and it helps the organization to get payments on a timely basis. GIS provides the status of every transaction whether they are still pending, scheduled for processing, processed, or paid. The payment can be either cash or credit card (which the user can also get added). GIS also keeps track of the inventory in-hand to be sold. The GIS also offers the functionality of management of warehouse activities and stockages for the user. The users can be assigned to different departments. As a whole, the GIS is user-friendly and can help large organizations to simplify the entire inventory-related procedures. Description: Comprehensive Inventory Management System is a part of Inventory Suite, which is the best price inventory management software for medium and large sized companies. Comprehensive
