Tank Defense Division is an arcade-like game that utilizes the Unity Engine. The developers of the game have included a diverse selection of choices and options to the players to customize their experience. On the surface, the game contains two types of gameplay: Campaigns and Battle. Campaigns take place in a fully scripted 100 level playlist. The player can play the campaigns alone or in co-op with their friends. On the battlefield, players are given access to a diverse range of weapons and vehicles that can be utilized in either the game's singleplayer or multiplayer modes. On the battlefield, the player is given the task to test out their prototype tank against their enemy's. The campaign takes place in real-time with the gameplay extending roughly for five minutes. With each battle, the player increases the damage and defense of their tank. At the end of each battle, the player is given an overall ranking based on their performance. As the game progresses, the player will earn credits and currency to perform certain tasks, like building new tanks. The player can also interact with their friends and chat with them in a lobby. This Lobby can be used by every player for free however, a subscription will allow the player to access private chat channels with their friends and the ability to teleport. Tank Defense Division includes many game modes like "Campaign" and "Battle" modes however, if you just want to play it's "Build" mode. "Build Mode" allows the player to complete challenges and earn credits to open doors to secret areas and purchase more tanks. Player can challenge friends, strangers, or AI in a premade "Build" level. Tank Defense Division Game Features: •Campaigns: Currently the game has six campaigns in the game. Players can partake in the high tech/sci-fi "Herald of the Far Reaches" campaign or the hand crafted "Far Reaches" campaign. Players can play with friends in any of the game's co-op campaigns or solo (single player) campaigns. All campaign battles are fully dynamic and change throughout gameplay. Battles in Campaigns take place on a randomly generated map. •Build Mode: Players can earn credits and currency to purchase new tanks and weapons. Build Mode is used to construct and destroy environments and structures to help "climb" to higher spaces. •Battle Mode: Players can battle friends, strangers, and AI in both singleplayer and co-op battles. The player can battle in a variety of premade levels or create their own by selecting Level and Game modes
