I need to normalize my dates and remove the time. How to the subtract the time from the dates from the same document. Or is there any other way to to remove the time?

A: I have no experience of using Pandas, but the following method should work. Here we create a `datetime.datetime` object by setting all the fields except time (which can be a number or string but it needs to be in seconds):

import datetime
dates = [datetime.datetime(2000, 1, 1) for x in range(5)]
time = [x for x in range(5)] # Time is not a datetime object, so # must convert to seconds first.
times = [x for x in time] # Now we set the time equal to zero and add the seconds.
datetimes = [datetime.datetime(2000, 1, 1, 0, x) for x in times] # ^ # Now we set datetimes equal to datetimes minus datetime(2001,1,1) datetimes = [datetime.datetime(2000,1,1, x) for x in range(5)] # ^ # Finally, we set the seconds to zero so that we have a string time_as_string = [x.strftime('%Y%m%d%H%M') for x in time]

^ Now using datetime.strptime: import
pandas as pd # Convert string to datetime df = pd.DataFrame({'dates':dates,
'time':time_as_string}) df['
